The 'Leitbild' of my current life phase

Vision and project development

To bring one's own life purpose into everyday life is a path of development with many steps. Again and again vision needs to be translated into inspired everyday behaviour. All the more so as the human world is falling into pieces by adaptation to prescriptions and acceptance of known recipes. Pioneering action is trusting the own idea and is as well proceeding as retrospectively and letting go views and habits which are no longer useful.

My vision ('Leitbild' means in German 'guiding inner image') and the desire of my heart, the place and the area, where I strike roots, my elementary clan, my gifts and my experience in initiating projects - all this plays a role in that.

There is a chance to see that more clearly, as soon as you enter a new phase in life or as your life situation is changing.

A 4-day-process for people already being on the track of their life purpose or wanting to look at it again.
